this book reclaims postcolonial theory addressing persistent limitations in the geographical disciplinary and methodological assumptions of its dominant formations it emerges however from an investment in the future of postcolonial studies and a commitment to its basic premise namely that literature and culture are fundamental to the response to structures of colonial and imperial domination to a certain extent postcolonial theory is a victim of its own success not least because of the institutionalization of the insights that it has enabled now that these insights no longer seem new it is hard to know what the field should address beyond its general commitments yet the renewal of popular anti imperial energies across the globe provides an important opportunity to reassert the political and theoretical value of the postcolonial as a comparative interdisciplinary and oppositional paradigm this collection makes a claim for what postcolonial theory can say through the work of scholars articulating what it still cannot or will not say it explores ideas that a more aesthetically sophisticated postcolonial theory might be able to address focusing on questions of visibility performance and literariness contributors highlight some of the
